Young Innovators

BOOT CAMP

Think, Innovate, Act.

A BIG GAP

"All humans are entrepreneurs not because they should start companies but because the will to create is encoded in human DNA." —Reid Hoffman. Some skills we undermine are key elements and ingredients individuals need to survive and swim through the murky waters of the world. Available figures from the National Bureau of Statistics put the current youth unemployment rate at over 25 percent. The implication is that over 25 million of Nigeria's youth population of about 100 million are unemployed- a situation that is threatening the very survival of Nigeria as a nation.

Unemployment continues to blight the affairs of our Nation and put the youths at risk of being an idle hand which is the devil's workshop. More importantly, we understand that the Nigerian educational structure is tailored to build employees not employers. It is therefore not surprising that there are only 5 Nigerians on the Forbes list of world billionaires while there are 1,826 billionaires out of 7 billion people in the world and all of them are business owners.

It is apparent that for this trend to change, Nigerians must learn from a young age the importance of enterprise development and be imbued with the necessary skills needed to achieve such a lofty aspiration.

OUR APPROACH

Having identified the challenge, we have decided to 'walk the talk' by organizing a summer boot camp targeted at youngsters in Ilorin. This is aimed at orienting the younger generation on the need to be their own boss and be financially intelligent. We believe that they do not need to get a University degree before they can be financially independent.

Apart from this mental reengineering, we believe that skills and aptitude are necessary tools for surviving economically as entrepreneurs and even as employees. Thus, our participants have the option to choose to either be trained as a writer or as an animation designer.

KEY DELIVERABLES

In addition to the Entrepreneurial development course which would be taken by all participants, they would also have to choose to take either of the WRITING or ANIMATION DESIGN courses.

For the Writing Course, at the end of the boot camp, participants would:

- Have published a piece (poem, opinion, short story, etc.) in the Teens/Children section of newspapers.
- Have written at least 50 pages of a publishable manuscript
- Have been put in the right frame of mind to own and manage their own writing blog.
- Have been exposed to the need to be financially independent from a young age, and would have been taught how to earn money legally through their writing skills

For the Animation Design Course, at the end of the boot camp, participants would have learnt:

- Animation's Principles and Techniques.
- Script Writing and Storyboarding
- Character Design, and Stop Motion Animation
- Own a blog and promote their work.
- Have been exposed to the need to be financially independent from a young age, and would have been taught how to earn money legally through making designs for clients and marketing their Animation Design skills.

ELIGIBILITY

To be considered eligible for the boot camp, participants must be between the ages of 11 and 16. Also, their registration form must have completed and submitted with parental consent. Furthermore, payment must be made latest by Saturday August 1st, 2015.

FAQs

Q: Must my child/ward have a flair for writing to take the writing course?

A: No. While it is acknowledged that some people naturally possess writing skills which would be an added advantage; everybody has the need for good writing skills. Thus, anyone within the specified age range can take the writing course, irrespective of their passion or skill at writing.

Q: Must my child/ward have a personal computer in order to take the Animation Design Course?

A: Yes. Every participant taking the Animation Design course MUST have a personal computer and bring it along daily. This is in order to ease learning, facilitate constant practice and make it possible for them to do take-home assignments.

Q: Must my child/ward be adept at the use of a computer to take the Animation Design Course?

A: Not necessarily. However, participants should be able to perform basic operations on the computer to aid quick assimilation of the course.

Q: Can the payment be made in installments?

A: Yes. You can make payment in two installments. However, the first installment must be paid latest by Saturday August 1st, 2015 while the balance must be paid latest by Saturday August 8th, 2015.
